Re: Maintaining Federal Funding for Minority Serving Institutions

Dear Chairman Harkin and Ranking Member Cochran:

On behalf of the higher education associations listed below, I write to urge you to ensure that vitally needed funding to strengthen America's Minority Serving Institutions (MSIs) does not sunset at the end of Fiscal Year 2009.

We ask that funding designated through the College Cost Reduction and Access Act of 2007 (CCRAA) for Hispanic Serving Institutions (HSIs), Historically Black Colleges and Universities (HBCUs), Predominately Black Institutions (PBIs), Tribal Colleges and Universities (TCUs), and Alaska Native/Native Hawaiian Institutions (AN/NH) remains available to help these important institutions as they work to increase access to higher education for all of our nation's students.

President Obama has said that "we need to put a college education within reach of every American. That's the best investment we can make in our future." By passing the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, Congress has provided the single largest increase in the Pell maximum award in the program's history. We thank you for this historic investment in the Pell Grant Program, which serves as the cornerstone of our federal need-based student aid efforts.

As you enact authorization and appropriations bills, we encourage you to build a firm foundation for the investment you have made in the Pell Grant Program by sustaining the funding that was made available under the CCRAA for Title III-A Sections 316 and 317, Title III-B, and Title V of the Higher Education Act (HEA). As a result of CCRAA, Congress provided an additional $255 million to MSIs in each of the last two years. Without action by Congress to extend this funding, that money will lapse, cutting funding to these institutions and severely limiting the role they will be able to play in meeting the president's ambitious goals.

These vital programs work in conjunction with the Pell Grant Program to expand opportunities for all students to participate in postsecondary education. Through the reauthorization of HEA last fall, Congress has strengthened these programs, renewed the federal commitment to increasing access to higher education and broadened the capacity of the higher education system to meet present and future challenges. This action will ring hollow without additional—or, at the very least, sustained—resources to help MSIs continue their important and unequalled work to educate “the emerging majority” in this country.

We believe that sustaining the federal investment in the nation’s Minority Serving Institutions is critical to our efforts to strengthen America’s human capital and lay the foundation for future economic growth.

We thank you for your consideration of our request and look forward to working with you going forward.

Sincerely,

Molly Corbett Broad
