

2018 Executive Forum for Leading Internationalization:
Leveraging Technology

Speaker Information

Zareen Naqvi
Director of Institutional Research and Planning
Simon Fraser University

Zareen Naqvi is the Director of Institutional Research and Planning at Simon Fraser University since September 2013. She worked at similar position at University of the Fraser Valley and British Columbia Institute of Technology during 2007-2013. Zareen completed her PhD in Economics from Boston University in 1994.

She worked as an academic and later as an international development professional at The World Bank for a decade. Her current research interests are in various aspects of Canadian higher education such as student engagement and employment outcomes of university graduates.

Jointly with the CIO, Zareen is leading the development of an enterprise data warehouse and data governance policy at SFU.